Escucha La Voz Escucha La Voz () is a Puerto Rican independent rock band from the island of Vieques. They have released five studio albums and have produced six songs for a tribute album honoring the country music singer Julio Iglesias. History Pre-establemente (1984-1985) The band was created in the small town of Vieques on the island of Puerto Rico by several former members of the band Los Afortunados, including their singer José Rodríguez, guitarist and composer Juan Soto and bassist Iván Rodríguez. Although José Rodríguez is the group's founding member, he took the name Escucha La Voz ("listen to the voice") from a book he was reading at the time and he chose it for that reason. The band was formed in the early 1980s by José Rodríguez and then joined by Iván Rodríguez, Juan Soto, and Héctor Malavé. The other founding members left the band in the mid-1980s and were replaced by Eric Ibáñez and Miguel Méndez. In 1984, they recorded a demo in a home studio, and in 1985, signed with the BMG label. A year later, they released their first studio album, Primero, segundo, sexto. The following year, another demo was recorded, and in 1987, they released their second album, Recuerdos. Escucha La Voz's career began to take off, and in 1988, they signed with CBS Records and recorded their first album with that label, Un Miuto Largo (Largo means "long" in Spanish). In 1989, they released the album Y Es Hora de Escucharla (It is time to hear it) and in 1990, their third album, Blanco Gris. In 1992, Escucha La Voz released their fourth album, Gritar al Cielo (Sc
