I hear some call the US Civil War the "First" revolution. I am not asking what a revolution is. What I am asking is what made this civil war a revolution? It was not the US constitution. It was not a world war. It was not the Emancipation Proclamation or the Thirteenth, Fourteenth, and Fifteenth Amendments. It was not the industrialization of the North. It was not the industrialization of the South. It was not the disenfranchisement of the Southern Whigs. It was not the Great Migration to the North. It was not the land grant of the Homestead Act. It was not the temperance movement. It was not the invention of the sewing machine or the assembly line. It was not the abolition of slavery. It was not the establishment of schools. It was not the end of white supremacy. It was not the end of the civil rights movement. It was not the McCarthy Hearings. It was not the Kennedy Assassination. It was not the Civil Rights Act of 1964. It was not the Voting Rights Act of 1965. It was not the Women's Movement. It was not the White Flight of the 1960s. It was not the Second Reconstruction. It was not the Counterculture. It was not the Hippies. It was not the Reagan Revolution. It was not the Reaganomics. It was not the entitlement programs. It was not the Baby Boom. It was not the Baby Boomers. It was not the Baby Backs. It was not the Vietnam War. It was not the Reaganite Revolution. It was not the Cold War. It was not the end of the Cold War. It was not the rise of capitalism. It was not the Reagan Revolution. It was not the election of Ronald Reagan. It was not the end of the Cold War. It was not the fall of the Berlin Wall. It was not the fall of the Soviet Union. It was not the fall of Communism. It was not the War on Drugs. It was not the War on Terror. It was not the War on Drugs. It was not the Arab Spring.
