The tracklisting for Bob Dylan's albums has changed several times since the early 1960s, as well as throughout the late 1960s, 1970s, and .The E4 SUMO-binding motif mediates a functional interaction with the chaperone Cdc48 in human cells. The E4 SUMO-conjugating enzyme is a component of the E3 SUMO ligase complex that conjugates SUMO to proteins. It was previously shown that the C-terminal part of E4 mediates a functional interaction with the chaperone Cdc48. In order to investigate the molecular basis of the interaction, the functional domains of E4 were mapped. Transient expression in HeLa cells showed that the C-terminal region of E4, comprising the last 88 residues, is sufficient for interacting with Cdc48. Since the E4 N-terminal domain is required for the association of E4 with E3 SUMO ligase and the Hsp70 chaperone function of Cdc48, the identification of the functional domain of E4 is of considerable importance for the understanding of the role of Cdc48 in protein quality control.Subcellular localization of the glutamate transporter subtype 2 (Glt-2) in the rat hippocampus. This study describes the distribution of the glutamate transporter subtype 2 (Glt-2) in rat hippocampus. A polyclonal antibody was generated against a peptide sequence corresponding to residues 384-399 of the rat Glt-2. Immunostaining with the antibody against Glt-2 revealed that there was significant immunoreactivity (IR) in the neuropil in layers II-VI of the hippocampus. This is consistent with the known distribution of the Glt-1, which is primarily a synaptic protein. In the molecular layer of the dentate gyrus, the Glt-2 IR is punctate and colocalizes with the cytochrome oxidase (CO) IR. However, in the stratum radiatum of the CA3/CA1 regions of the hippocampus and in the CA1 area of the dentate gyrus, Glt-2 IR is not colocalized with CO IR, but is located in dendrites
